Consist Impresses at IT-Tage 2024

From December 9 to 12, 2024, Consist Software Solutions participated successfully in IT-Tage in Frankfurt am Main with a booth and a presentation.

Kiel/Frankfurt am Main – From December 9 to 12, 2024, Consist Software Solutions showcased proven concepts at IT-Tage in Frankfurt on how to keep custom software in businesses modern and efficient with the right strategy. The IT service provider, headquartered in Kiel with an additional location in Frankfurt, used this opportunity to provide companies with comprehensive insights into software development, modernization, and operations. A highlight of the event was the expert presentation on "Custom Software of the Future – From Operations to Modernization," which attracted significant interest.

Check-Up with the Software Docs: Consulting for Robust and Future-Proof Software

Even when a system is running smoothly, it's essential to ensure its stability under changing or increasing demands. This is where the Consist Software Docs come into play. As specialists in preventive care, health checks, and strengthening the "immune system" of existing software solutions, Consist helps companies keep their applications sustainable and high-performing. This is achieved through targeted analysis of the current state, modernization of outdated components, and the gradual implementation of upgraded elements – all without disrupting operations.

Expert Lecture: "The Future of Custom Software – From Operations to Modernization"

In their presentation titled "Custom Software of the Future – From Operations to Modernization," Consist experts introduced field-proven methods for modernizing systems while ensuring uninterrupted operations.

The presentation highlighted a step-by-step approach to migrating legacy systems into modern microservice architectures, a strategy that has already been successfully applied in practice. The speakers illustrated how companies can future-proof their IT infrastructure while maximizing the value of their existing systems. The talk provided valuable insights for businesses looking to tackle the challenge of modernizing their software landscape.

About IT-Tage 2024

Organized by the trade journal Informatik Aktuell, IT-Tage 2024 marked its tenth anniversary, solidifying its position as one of the most important conferences for IT professionals in the German-speaking world. The event featured a wide range of topics, including software architecture, AI, IT security, cloud computing, DevOps, and IT management. In addition to keynote speeches, the event included various sub-conferences and workshops, offering a rich platform for knowledge exchange and networking.
